ADHD Planner

Focus, Plan & Thrive

A Gentle Undated Planner for Your Brilliant Brain

"Because your brain deserves a planner that gets it."

NO DATES. NO GUILT. NO BORING PAGES.

Hey, You Made It!

(That's already an achievement. Seriously.)

This planner was designed for brains like yours — the kind that can hyperfocus on Wikipedia for 4 hours but forget to eat lunch.

Here's the deal:

- There are NO dates. Skip a day? A week? A month? Zero guilt.
- Each page tells you exactly what to do (revolutionary, right?).
- You only need to pick 3 things per day. THREE. That's it.
- If you finish all 3, you're basically a superhero.

There's also brain dump pages for when your thoughts are like 47 browser tabs open at once (we see you).

WHAT'S INSIDE THIS BAD BOY

Daily Focus — Only 3 tasks. Because let's be honest, 47 was never realistic.

Time Blocks — Morning / Afternoon / Evening. No hourly micromanagement BS.

Brain Dump — Your mental junk drawer. Dump everything here. No judgment.

Weekly Overview — For when you want to pretend you have your week together.

Mood & Energy — Track your vibes. Discover you're a zombie on Tuesdays.

Habit Tracker — Just 7 habits max. We're building momentum, not anxiety.

Weekly Reflection — What worked? What flopped? What snacks helped?

Pro tip: Use what helps. Ignore what doesn't. Eat snacks.

MORE HABIT IDEAS (pick what doesn't make you cringe)

Stretch for 2 min | Write 1 gratitude | Make the bed | Go outside 5 min

Read 1 page | Text someone nice | No social media before 9am | Deep breaths x3

Tidy one thing | Prep tomorrow's clothes | Journal 3 sentences | Dance to 1 song

"If plan A didn't work, the alphabet has 25 more letters."

Weekly Reflection

"Therapy lite, but on paper"

No judgment zone. Just vibes and self-awareness. Be honest with yourself.

WHAT WENT WELL?

Even tiny wins count. Did you remember to eat? That's a W.

WHAT WAS HARD?

Not to roast yourself. To understand and adjust. Be kind.

WHAT DRAINED MY ENERGY?

People? Tasks? That one meeting? Name it.

WHAT GAVE ME ENERGY?

Do more of this. Seriously. Write it down. Remember it.

ONE THING TO TRY NEXT WEEK

Just ONE. Keep it tiny and doable. You're not training for the Olympics.

You survived another week. That's not nothing.
